Insight from the Word of God:
Martin Luther & The Reformation

On October 31, 1517 God moved Dr. Martin Luther (A. D. 1483-1546), an Augustinian monk and Doctor of Old Testament theology, to nail what has become known as the Ninety-five Theses to the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, Germany. These theses or sentences attacked the Roman Catholic practice and teaching of indulgences, which sold forgiveness for money.

Pope Leo the 10th had issued an official proclamation, called an indulgence, which offered to sell the forgiveness of sins for both the living and dead, without the presence of sorrow over sin or faith in Christ.

John Tetzel, a Dominican monk, became wealthy selling these indulgences, this forgiveness paperwork, in the area near Wittenberg, Germany where Luther lived. Tetzel was a large, eloquent man with a flare for sales psychology. His arrival was announced some weeks before his visit to a town. When he finally arrived, the whole town would come out to greet him with a great celebration.

In the town square, Tetzel gave his first sermon on "Hell," in which he pictured the place of the damned in language made vivid with fire and brimstone.

The second sermon which dramatically portrayed the sufferings of the relatives of the townspeople in "Purgatory" was spoken in the town cathedral. He would ask his audience, if they could not hear the wailing and suffering cries of their relatives rising up from purgatory, while they, their descendants, enjoyed their inheritance here on earth.

Tetzel's third sermon was on the joys of "Heaven." How sweet and peaceful were the souls in heaven in contrast to the sufferings of the poor souls in hell!

Now the audience was ripe for the sale of the indulgences. Tetzel sold the indulgence paperwork to the people based on their ability to pay. Businessmen would have to pay as much as $80, while the poor were charged only $7!

After this selling of forgiveness had gone on for a few years, Martin Luther in righteous indignation posted his Ninety-five Theses against this indulgence traffic. While Luther posted these statements with the intention of sparking a scholarly dialogue within the Roman Catholic Church, God used this event to trigger the Lutheran Reformation, the fruits of which Protestant churches still enjoy, today.

The Lutheran Reformation continues to be celebrated in our day, because through this renewal of the church the Holy Spirit taught the church the biblical doctrine of justification by God's grace through faith alone in Jesus Christ as Savior. Justification means that God declares all believers in Christ "not guilty" and innocent of all their sins through their baptismal and faith connection to Christ. Justification, this teaching of forgiveness through faith in Christ alone, is the central doctrine of the Bible by which the church stands and continues to grow. Pastor Brechbuhl

"We Are All Beggars"

In the early morning hours of Feb. 18, 1546, Martin Luther closed his eyes forever. Before that happened, the hand that hammered the 95 Theses into the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg on Oct. 31, 1517, penned its final words: "We are all beggars. This is true." And this is the truth that our Lord says makes you free. Ironic, isn't it? In order to be free, you must be a beggar. You must be utterly dependent and reliant upon God. This makes us uncomfortable - the way we're uncomfortable when someone gets us a Christmas present when we haven't gotten them one. We feel we owe them. And we don't like being in someone's debt like that. But what Luther would remind us is that we are all indeed beggars. And we're not just anyone's beggars. We're God's beggars. Christ came for sinners. He came to seek and save the lost. He came to heal the sick and raise the dead. He came for sinners, and He dwells only with sinners. If we are to be where He is, we must be willing to be counted among the lost, the sick, and the dead. We must be willing to be beggars. We must cry out for mercy, for grace, and for his undeserved love and kindness. We must be dependent solely on Him and what He gives. And here's the beauty: He gives us everything. Everything. Forgiveness of sins, salvation from death and the devil, and eternal life. This isn't because of any worthiness or merit in us. It is because of His divine goodness, mercy, and grace. On account of Christ's death and resurrection, the Father forgives you, saves you, and is pleased with you. You receive His love, His righteousness, His holiness, His acceptance, and His inheritance. We are all beggars. This is true. This is the heart and soul of Christianity and the lifeblood of the Christian Church. God justifies us and declares us innocent and righteous by His grace received through faith for the sake of Christ. This isn't because of our works but because of His work on the cross. We, who once were enemies of God, are reconciled to Him and made to be His children. This is what Luther pointed us to when He took up his pen for the last time and scribbled "We are all beggars. This is true." We are beggars, but we are beggars of the God who does not ignore us and who doesn't pass by us on the other side. We are beggars of the One who descended from heaven to make His dwelling with sinners. We are beggars of Him who deigns to dwell with us, among us, and – yes – still in us by grace for Christ's sake. For in the bread and cup that we bless we share together with Christ and each other the riches of God's grace. The riches of this grace – the Gospel in sermon and absolution, in Baptism, and in Holy Communion – are so inexhaustible that our cups overflow. We, who are God's beggars, are inexhaustibly satisfied, and we have something to give back in thanksgiving and praise.

Locally, funds are used to provide age-appropriate books and educational materials for our Lutheran School. “Thanks for supporting Life”!

THANK YOU: A huge thank you goes out to the following who helped deliver Doorbell Dinners during the week of September 5-9: Randy and Mary Anne Lawson, Elaine Jarman, Danny Magelitz, Jane Henderson, Joanne Campbell, Ruth Werries, Linda Strubbe, and the students from Grades 6-7. The students used words to describe their experiences as “fast” and “helpful” and “caring” and “fun”. You can find pictures from the week on Salem School’s webpage. Our meal recipients enjoyed having the students bring their lunches. Sometimes, we are the only visitors they might have in a day and many times we have to remind them that we have other stops to make on our routes. If you wish to volunteer for this program please contact Rita Tendick at 217-473-5017. Our next assigned week will be December 5-9.

SCHOOL NEWS

News from Principal Joy Reitsma: This month has been very busy! Our littlest Cyclones (preschool) have been practicing to sing in church to share the love of Jesus with their families and the congregation. We had the church and school picnic where even the damp weather couldn't stop the fellowship. Our students were wet but happy to spend time together out at the Steinacher's home. We thank the Steinacher's for their hospitality! Our school website has received a facelift! It is VERY user friendly! Thank you to Kevin Echhoff and company for overseeing these changes. Be sure to go and check it out at www.salemjaxschool.net. School Spirit Friday's are back! Thank you to Samantha Robinson for designing and printing our spirit wear! If you would like to order a shirt to wear to church/school events see the office for an order form. We will also be having a float in the Illinois College Homecoming parade. We are seeking all past graduates to ride on our: 165 Years of Excellence in Christian Education float. If you or someone you know is a graduate of Salem and can ride on the float, please contact the office. We will be hosting a trunk or treat in October! We would love to have as many cars decorated as possible. The theme is: your favorite book. You can either have candy to give out or a game for the children to play. We are making this a community event to encourage people to come check us out! If you would like to be a car, please let the office know so we can map out where to place the cars. We are also looking for help to make costumes for the Advent/Christmas Service the school will be doing. If you would like to help, please contact the office.

PRESCHOOL/KINDERGARTEN News from Mrs. Mindy Lysaythong: Hello preschool and kindergarten parents, it has been an exciting month getting to know each other, our families, and working together as a team. The children have been working hard rehearsing their song and getting ready for the show on September 25 at 9 am just for you!

I want to thank everyone for taking the time to work with your child with his/her homework. The first thing the children wanted to tell me in the morning is that they got the homework done by waving it in front of my face. It amazes me how much they love to learn and play with their friends! I appreciate your dedication to your child's educational endeavors! As teachers, Mrs. Weigand and I have the best job to educate them and watch them blossom not just academically but as a child of God. The children have been very responsible in terms of getting their classroom work done and most importantly cleaning up after themselves. To thank our students we threw them a watermelon party. They have earned it! They ate watermelon with friends, received a watermelon cookie, and tried to break a watermelon piñata with a stick! It was a blast of fun!

1st & 2nd GRADE NEWS from Mrs. Deborah Steinacher: School is going so well! We are off to a fantastic start to another wonderful school year! We have been doing a variety of classroom projects already. In religion we have been learning about how God made the world and everything in it. We have also been learning that many things around us are God-made while other things are human-made. In science we really liked learning about what would sink and what would float. It was a lot of fun using water and a variety of things to make our predictions. We are already working on filling the hallway with our artwork. They have made rainbows to remind us of God's promise to never flood the whole world again. They have also been learning about lines and have made some line designs. We have been practicing the song "Father Welcomes." We have been working on reading through the verses and knowing what the song means. They are doing a wonderful job of learning the Song and are looking forward to singing in church on October 9th. Thank you for your support. God's blessings

3rd, 4th & 5th GRADE NEWS from Mrs. Blayre Petri:

It is so fun to see the excitement on the student's face when a familiar hymn or song is played during music time on Fridays. My 3rd and 4th grade students truly enjoy praising God through music. We have been joining the 1st and 2nd graders on Fridays which is also so much fun! For the past few months we have been working hard on our hymn "Father Welcomes," that we will be singing in October. The Christian songs we sing during music remind us of the everlasting love God has for each and every one of us! God Bless, Mrs. Petri
